

30 April 1948

I mre is an article on the subject of typests in interrogetion which you will note it a repetite from a similar article in Collier's. I have seen two other articles on this same subject in the part year, and at the suggestion of it.

Link Sunday's Times—haveld magazine there was a too-page article describing how a scene delivered a pinild without the use of menthetic will on the proposed. It would seen that the subject is not unknown to the general public, as metter of fact; I have had an interest in it were since I read the article in the Reader's Direct.

2. By position is that we can no more have participation on the part of in our operations than can in the part of the fine our operations than can be a fine our pour office. It is simply a basis presention because of the delicate nature of the work.

